DETAILED ACTIONResponse to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 11/8/04 have been fully considered and are deemed persuasive. In particular, applicant arguments that the Sato, Tsukidate and Ismail references each teach that an entire program guide database is downloaded to each user. Applicant's invention stresses that the program guide database is accessible by a central device and the user's retrieval conditions, such as personal information relating to favorites are also stored in a memory accessible by the central device, such as a server and that the server may determine from the program guide database which programs meet the user's retrieval conditions and transmit those program that meet those conditions to the user's radio communication terminal. Thus, applicant's invention is distinguished from the referenced prior art.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-32 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Regarding claims 1, 6, 7, 12, 16, and 19, the examiner is in agreement with applicant as to the reasons for allowance.
